Tippecanoe Country Club

Canfield, Ohio

Designed by Donald J. Ross, one of the most significant figures in golf, since 1927, Tippecanoe CC is a members only golf course. It is one of the premier courses in the Quad-County.

The course was built on rolling green terrain by the architect R. Albert Anderson. The fairways are lined with trees and the green complexes are large, undulating and fast with water fronting many greens.

The course is challenging, but many remember the 572 yard par 5 hole #2. The combined greens of holes 9 and 18 make for a picturesque view with demanding golf shots.

Tippecanoe CC has hosted the United States Golf Association qualifying for the U.S. Amateur Championship in 2007 and 2015 and qualifying for the U.S. Senior Amateur Championship in 2014.
